NovoStage

Windows Wireless
Collaboration Software

Overview

NovoStage is Windows™ based wireless collaboration software. No hardware setup needed, no cables required – total freedom. Share content from up to four devices to start working together in the easiest way.

Users can upgrade any Windows™ based display into a wireless collaboration platform. NovoStage eliminates the hardware setup for presentation and discussions. Turn any meeting environment into a interactive session. The software is platform agnostic, supporting connections from various operating systems including the ability to display the screen of 4 participants simultanously. Simply carry your collaboration tool wherever you go!
